What's New in the Version 3.1.0: Added support for 64-bit hardware. Fantastic. I already had a look at this app, but still haven't found what I was looking for, that's why I am asking for help. I want to try it out on my iPhone 4s and iPad air, because I have lost my iPhone 6 plus and I didn't have the time to put it back together after the fact. The problem is that I haven't got a Mac or PC to download it on, so can I download it on the iOS device and run it there? This is awesome and a lot of fun! I have been wanting to try some audio engineering and this makes it a piece of cake. I know my question is a little off topic, but any help would be amazing! Ok, so I want to make a ringtone, just for fun. Do you have any way to play the sound clip in the "normal" video player? Like if you were to press the "play" button and it plays the clip. I don't want to try to make one from scratch, just make something small that would be used as a ringtone. Its awesome!! Works like a charm and very easy to use. I needed to update my software for the most recent iOS updates and there was a new file format that needed to be installed for it to work. It worked like a charm and I love it. This is the best software out there to convert all your media from your PC to your iPhone or iPad. Thank you so much to the developers for providing a workable solution to a problem that is bothersome. It works very well. It does need some work if you want to really fine tune the settings. I set the preset to the best for most things. A lot of tweaking would be nice. I like the software. It is very easy to use.
