of Egyptian, Libyan, and other African men, homosexuals, as well as Egyptian children, Israelites, and Phoenecian aliens, in the name of God and Mohammad. [See "Homosexuality in ancient Egypt", by R.F. Bulliet, and "Homosexuality and the Use of Male Slaves in Ancient Greece", by G. Miller. -- NW] In the same way, women who kill their children and who otherwise behave badly are also killed in the name of God. The opposite of this is true of those who behave well, who behave with respect, who are kind to the poor, who feed the hungry and clothe the naked. In Islam, good people are rewarded and bad people are punished. This is supposedly because the good people will be rewarded in the next world. In this world, the bad ones are rewarded. To understand how the Muslims treat their prophets, read "The Life of Mohammad: A Translation of the Sahih Bukhari Volume 7" by A. Guillaume. The Elemental Realms, also known as the "Kingdoms of Iron", consist of thirteen of the most powerful and titled realms. The most powerful of those lands is known as "Demonolich". It was a great peace between humans and demons. However, humans and demons clashed against each other once more and it was ended up with the utter destruction, making the self-proclaimed "king" of Demonolich, Rikke, threaten to be banished once more.

The main protagonist is a human condemned for crimes. His name is Sento, who is a haiku writer. He accidentally cuts of his own fingers in a struggle, and the champion of Demonolich, Mado, appears. He reveals a secret needed to defeat Rikke... Is a certain human girl named Ehren, or "Elise", who is a former comrade of Sento, found?

What makes the game unique is not only about Sento, but also Elise, who was the first acquaintance in Sento's life, and Elise, who goes to Sento with a huge desire to protect him.
